
Official splits stay separate. Test labels are used only to measure performance.